

The Railway & Locomotive Historical Society Scholarship Program

Founded in 1921, the RAILWAY & LOCOMOTIVE HISTORICAL SOCIETY is the oldest organization in North America devoted to railroad history, and among the first anywhere to pursue formal studies in technology relating to all aspects of railroading. The Society promotes research and encourages preservation of documentation and photography of railroad business, history, engineering, operations, finance, labor, biography, regulation, and technology.

The Society publishes RAILROAD HISTORY, the country's oldest journal devoted to railroad history, containing original scholarship that sets the standard in railroading research.

The R&LHS is proud to sponsor scholarships to promote the professional, academic study of railroad history, business, engineering, and operations. Scholarships are available for both advanced undergraduate (Junior and Senior levels) and graduate study.

Information and application instructions may be found on the Society's web page: rlhs.org
